Our Castor Oil, renowned for its myriad benefits, is meticulously sourced and crafted to meet global standards. Join us in sharing the goodness of Castor Oil with the world.

COLD PRESSED CASTOR OIL (CPG)

Cold-pressed castor oil is a natural oil extracted from castor beans using mechanical pressing, preserving its nutrients.
It's used in skincare for moisturizing and soothing and in hair care for potential growth benefits. Rich in ricinoleic acid, it has anti-inflammatory and antimicrobial properties.

COMMERCIAL GRADE CASTOR OIL

Commercial-grade castor oil is a type of castor oil that is primarily produced for industrial applications. it holds value in various sectors. Often used as a lubricant, additive in manufacturing processes, or for producing biofuels, commercial grade castor oil's cost-effectiveness and functional properties make it a practical choice for industries where the highest level of refinement is not necessary.

REFINED CASTOR OIL (FIRST SPECIAL GRADE F.S.G/BRITISH STANDARD SPECIFICATIONS-B.S.S)

Refined Castor Oil (First Special Grade – F.S.G/British Standard Specifications–B.S.S) is a premium variant of castor oil that undergoes meticulous refining processes to meet stringent quality standards. Recognized for its exceptional clarity and purity, it finds application in pharmaceuticals, cosmetics, and industrial sectors. With well-defined properties, this refined castor oil conforms to specific British Standard Specifications, ensuring consistency and reliability in various formulations, making it a preferred choice for industries demanding higher-grade castor oil.

REFINED CASTOR OIL (PALE PRESSED GRADE - P.P.G)

Refined Castor Oil (Pale Pressed Grade – P.P.G) is a high-quality type of castor oil obtained from the initial pressing of castor beans. Through meticulous refining processes, it achieves a pale color and premium clarity. Often chosen for its purity and mild odor, this refined castor oil variant is well-suited for applications in cosmetics, skincare, and industrial sectors. Its controlled properties and light appearance make it a valuable ingredient in formulations where color and consistency play a crucial role.
